You understand that your policy's premium offset option is a dividend-based, non-guaranteed feature and is dependent on the following:

1. continuance of the current dividend scale and rate of interest which is not guaranteed and may change in the future;
2. there will be no loans or advances; and
3. no dividend withdrawals nor withdrawals of the accumulated endowment benefits, if applicable, are made on this policy.

Whether there will be dividends (that may be used for premium offset) depends on the Company's future dividends performance, which in turn is determined by a number of factors with the Company's investment return normally being the main determinant. Other factors may include mortality experience, taxes, inflation, policyowner termination experience, and policy expenses. That being the case, it is possible that even after you have elected this option, you may be required, at some point in the future, to resume paying policy premiums in cash because of insufficiency of future dividends.

A change in the accumulation rate may also require you, at some point in the future, to pay additional premiums to maintain the policy.

This section must be signed by the policyowner for Premium Offset requests using dividends alone, and by the policyowner and endowment beneficiary/ies for Premium Offset request using dividends and accumulated endowment benefits.
