Capital protection and continuity of income payouts are dependent on the absence of the Note Issuer's (ING) default, any Credit Event on the Republic of the Philippines, or other similar factors such as Change in Law, and the client holding the policy to maturity.

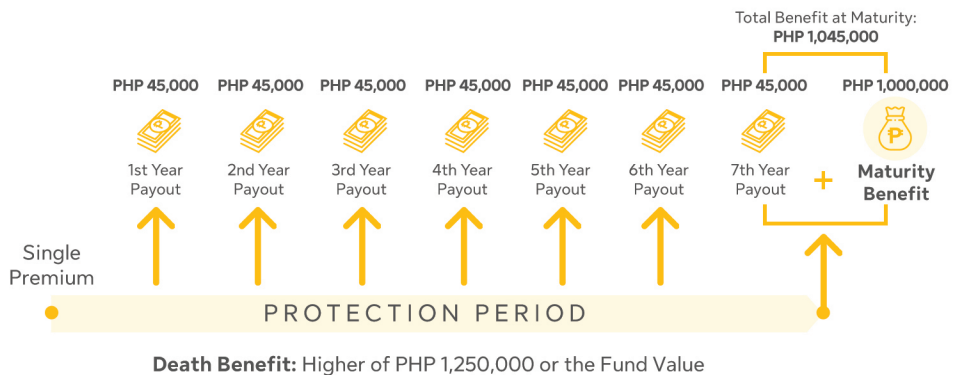

How Does Sun Peso Maximizer Work (ProlIncome)?

Sun Peso Maximizer (ProlIncome) invests in a credit-linked note issued by ING Bank N.V. (ING), where the underlying credit reference is the Republic of the Philippines. The structured instrument enables Sun Peso Maximizer (ProlIncome) to provide insurance coverage for 7 years and fixed Annual Income Payouts starting at the end of the first policy year up until maturity, regardless of the performance of the underlying asset*. The amount of each payout will be based on an Annual Income Rate that will be provided by the Note Issuer (ING) at policy inception.

Aside from the final fixed payout at the end of the 7-year holding period, Sun Peso Maximizer (ProlIncome) provides a Maturity Benefit* that is equal to 100% of the Single Premium.

*Capital protection and continuity of income payouts are dependent on the absence of the Note Issuer's (ING) default, any Credit Event on the Republic of the Philippines, or other similar factors such as Change in Law, and the client holding the policy to maturity.

Notes:

- All values indicated in this material are used for illustrative purposes only and do not represent any future trends or performance.
- The illustration assumes absence of an Issuer's Default and any Credit Event of Republic of the Philippines or other similar factor such as Change in Law (where the Note Issuer is no longer permitted to issue or hold such debt or notes). In case of such an eventuality, the policy owner can lose some or all of the Single Premium as well as any unpaid Annual Income Payout.
- A default generally occurs when the issuer is unable to fulfill a financial obligation, such as interest and/or principal payment within a specified period.
- A credit event includes, but may not be limited to, reference entity bankruptcy, failure to pay, obligation acceleration, debt repudiation and debt moratorium.

A Closer Look at Sun Peso Maximizer (ProlIncome)

What is Sun Peso Maximizer (ProlIncome)?

Sun Peso Maximizer (ProlIncome) is a single-pay, Peso-denominated, life insurance product that provides protection equal to at least 125% of the Single Premium and is linked to a structured investment that matures after seven (7) years. The plan invests in a single asset – a credit-linked note that pays fixed annual income payouts at the end of each policy year and 100% of the principal at maturity, providing the opportunity to increase the value of your dollars while protecting your capital.¹

What is a Structured Note and how does it work?

A Structured Note or Structured Investment is a debt instrument, whose return characteristics, such as coupon amount or market value, are linked to the performance of other underlying derivative instruments.

These other underlying instruments may include equities, indices, interest rates, credit default swaps, or a basket of instruments. In the case of Sun Peso Maximizer (ProlIncome), the underlying credit reference is the Republic of the Philippines.

In the absence of Note Issuer's (ING) default, a credit event on the Republic of the Philippines or early redemption by the Note Issuer due to other factors such as change in law, and the client holding the policy to maturity, the policy owner will receive (i) an Annual Income Payout at the end of each policy year for seven (7) years and (ii) a Maturity Benefit of 100% of the Single Premium.

Is this product for me?

Sun Peso Maximizer (ProlIncome) is a financial solution for clients with risk tolerance classified as balanced to aggressive, and who are looking to diversify their excess liquid assets into financial instruments with potentially higher returns. They aim for wealth accumulation and/or wealth preservation by capitalizing on global investment opportunities within a 7-year investment horizon. If you are a client that fits this description, then this product may be for you. You can verify this through the results of your Financial Needs Analysis (FNA) and Risk Profile Questionnaire (RPQ) completed during policy application stage.

If in case your FNA and RPQ results do not match with this product's terms and features but you still want to proceed with obtaining a policy, you must understand the attendant risks and be willing and capable to accept losses in a worst case scenario, which may result from selecting this type of Variable Life Insurance product that is beyond your risk profile.

In view of the risk of adverse movements in the underlying instruments, your single premium should not exceed 20% of your available/investible assets (Available Assets will be Annual Income less expenses and financial obligations, such as mortgage payments, bank loans, etc.). It is recommended to diversify your assets and minimize concentration risk. You should not put all eggs in one basket.

How much is my life insurance coverage and how long will I be insured?

You are insured up to a maximum of seven (7) years. The amount of coverage is the higher of your policy's fund value or the guaranteed death benefit equivalent to 125% of the Single Premium.

Can I make withdrawals from my fund anytime?

Only full withdrawal is allowed for this particular product subject to a surrender charge.

Surrender Charges* (as percentage of the amount of fund withdrawn)

Year 1	7%	Year 5	3%
Year 2	6%	Year 6	2%
Year 3	5%	Year 7	1%
Year 4	4%

*Surrender charges are deducted from the amount to be withdrawn.

Surrendering your policy prior to maturity will also subject the value of the policy to market risk. Thus, you may receive significantly less than the initial single premium paid and will no longer receive any succeeding payouts.

The Structured Note underlying the Sun Peso Maximizer (ProlIncome) is denominated in Philippine Peso (PHP) but is settled in US Dollars (USD). If held to maturity, and in the absence of any Credit Event, Note Issuer (ING) default, or other similar factors such as Change in Law (where the Note Issuer is no longer permitted to issue or hold such debt or notes), the policy owner will not be subject to foreign exchange risk as the USD/PHP exchange rate used for the currency conversion is fixed for the duration of the product via a cross-currency transaction.

However, in case of a Credit Event, Note Issuer (ING) default or other similar factors such as Change in Law, or should the policy owner opt to surrender the policy before maturity, the policy owner's final redemption/recovery amount will be determined by the actual market value of the Structured Note which will be subject to the prevailing USD/PHP exchange rate to convert the USD proceeds to PHP. In such cases, the policy owner will be subject to currency risk (or foreign exchange risk) and market risk. As such, the policy owner may receive significantly less than the initial single premium paid.

What are the other charges for Sun Peso Maximizer (ProlIncome)?

For the first five (5) years, your policy shall be subject to an Annual Periodic Charge of 2.48% and an Annual Insurance Charge of 0.12% of the Single Premium. These charges are deducted directly from the investment fund and shall be reflected in the Net Asset Value Per Unit (NAVPU). Annual Income Payouts provided, however, are net of these charges. Thus, it is important that you, as policy owner, keep the policy until maturity to receive all payouts for 7 years and capital protection at maturity.

How can the product provide capital protection?

The plan invests in a credit-linked ING-issued note that enables the policy owner to receive fixed annual income payouts and get back the full Single Premium at maturity. This will, however, be subject to the ability of ING to repay its obligations and the absence of any credit event by the Republic of Philippines or other similar factors.

What happens in case of a credit event on The Republic of the Philippines or in case of Note Issuer (ING) default?

In the event of an ING default, credit event on the Republic of the Philippines or other similar factors, the maturity date of the policy will accelerate to the date of the issuer default or credit event. The proceeds at the accelerated maturity date will be subject to the investment risks and shall be based on the number of outstanding units and the unit price of the fund based on the recovery value of the note. Moreover, in the event that a credit trigger occurs or if a continuing risk that a credit trigger may occur, the final redemption of the note may be deferred for a substantial period of time which may be beyond the scheduled maturity date. In such an eventuality, the policy owner can lose some or all of the Single Premium invested in the note.

What instances will lead to possibly losing some or all of my Single Premium invested in the Structured Note?

A policy owner can lose some or all of the Single Premium invested in a Structured Note if any of the following happens:

- Inability of Sun Life to fulfill its financial obligations
- Event of default of the Note Issuer (ING)²
- Credit event on The Republic of the Philippines
- Client's early surrender of the policy
- Early redemption by the Note Issuer (ING) due to but not limited to: change in law or FX disruption event.

²A default generally occurs when the issuer is unable to fulfill a financial obligation, such as interest and/or principal payment within a specified period. A credit event includes, but may not be limited to, reference entity bankruptcy, failure to pay, obligation acceleration, debt repudiation, debt moratorium, and restructuring.
